

GUARDIAN HOME CONTRACT-North

When I am assessing a litter, it is always in my best interest to keep one or two pups to consider for breeding stock. A guardian home candidate gets the 'cream of the crop' which is the pup with the best coat, confirmation, temperament, head shape, intelligence and trainability. I begin the screening process early - before they even leave here, with temperament testing, and then add more testing after six months of growth which includes the hip test. Tests for eye CERF's at one year, as well as heart will be on the same day.

Guardian pup candidates are a 'cut above' from their littermates. Do they always pass my stringent testing protocol? No. If they do pass, your deposit check of $800 is returned after our contract is fulfilled. (Every contract is custom made for each guardian and confidential.) If they do not pass, we can discuss purchase at that time at a reduced rate of $800, or less depending in the severity of any health/genetic issues.
